BACK TO THE CLASSROOM

WE ARE GOING BACK.....BACK TO THE CLASSROOM!

Our Year 5/6 Production is less than 3 weeks away and the excitement is building. The team have been working very hard with the script, dances, props, costumes, movement between scenes and all of the logistics that go with putting together a show.

It is always one of the highlights of our student's experience at Greenhills and I know everyone is looking forward to the big day and night on Tuesday 17th September.

VERTICAL GARDEN WORKING BEE

Don't forget that on Monday 9th September from 3.45pm – 4.45pm we will be holding our very first after school working bee. Our task is to re-plant our vertical garden which is located in a central courtyard in the middle of the Library, Music and Art rooms. Many thanks to Joanne Thom who has assisted the school to obtain a grant which has been used to purchase plants from Edendale Farm. Joanne has also worked with the Edendale team to develop a design for our vertical garden that we will be able to maintain and help bring the courtyard area back to life.

FATHERS DAY BREAKFAST

One more sleep to go and I'm really looking forward to the Father's Day Breakfast tomorrow starting from 7.45am. The breakfast is always so well organised and a great chance to catch up with other dads and special people. Thank you to our wonderful PA volunteers, who organise events such as this at our school. Not only do we get a tasty breakfast, but our home-school partnership is also celebrated and strengthened.

BEING AN ADVENTUROUS LEARNER

During our whole school reflection time this week we are continuing our theme of Resilience and in particular exploring how to take responsible risks.

Ever heard of the saying "You make your own luck"? Successful people often seem able to generate good fortune for themselves. I can think of lots of examples of successful sports teams, individuals, business people and other famous people that seem to have one positive experience after another.

We often hear that these successful people are risk takers, but it turns out this is only part of the truth. Certainly, successful people will be adventurous and try things others may not, but for the most part they would not consider these great risks. Successful people grasp opportunities, and the difference between a risk and a responsible risk or opportunity is knowledge.

Successful people see an opportunity but don't just dive in, they measure the risks involved. They then seek to minimize any negative consequences and maximise positive outcomes.

Why not have a chat as a family and discuss examples of a responsible risk you have taken that has paid dividends. What might have happened if you did something different and did not take the responsible risk? What did you do to make sure you minimised the risk?

STUDENT LED CONFERENCES

This is a reminder that our Student Led Conferences will be held on Wednesday 11th September. On this day, students only attend school for the duration of their conference. These are 15 minutes each and they will run between 8.45am and 6.45pm. Booking are now open via the Sentral Parent Portal. They will close on Tuesday 10th September.

Please note that the conference structure will be 15 minutes with the teacher, student and parents. There will not be time set aside for a separate 5 minute meeting without the student being present. As is always the case, should you wish to discuss any issue with your child's teacher throughout the year, you can contact them to make a suitable time.

Student Led Conferences gives students the opportunity to articulate and reflect on their learning. It is recognised that if our children are to be successful in the future, they must be given the skills to know how to learn. We want them to understand that learning is something they do, it is not something done to them or something that just happens. Strategies like conferencing assist in leading students towards becoming self-directed, independent learners. Student led conferences ensure that the focus remains on the students and the critical role they have in determining their own next steps for learning.

ARE YOU LEAVING OUR SCHOOL IN 2020?

If you are intending to leave our school next year (other than our current Grade 6's of course!) please let me know. I am currently confirming our enrolment numbers for next year and starting to think about possible class structures for 2020.

SUNSMART HATS

You may have noticed that the trees and plants are starting to show signs of spring. This is a great reminder that the warmer weather is on the way. As a Sunsmart school, our policy ensured that our students wear the appropriate school hat from the start of September through to the end of April.

Principal

BREAD TAGS FOR WHEELS

Bread Tags for Wheels is a foundation that collects bread tags, sells them to a recycler and uses that money to purchase a wheelchair for those in need. Parade College is currently collecting bread tags to help a fellow student and has asked for our help.

Bread tags come in many shapes, sizes and colours. Made of High Impact Polystyrene they have a good recycling value. It takes 200 bread bags full of tags that are packed into 10 black bags or 200 kg of tags to bring in enough money to buy one wheelchair. Having a wheelchair gives the recipient independence and mobility and this makes a big difference to their families as well.

There is a tub at the office if you wish to help this cause. More information on the foundation can be found at

DEVELOPING HOME-SCHOOL PARTNERSHIPS

Moving Beyond Cyber Safety for Happy, Resilient Digital Kids

As digital devices are becoming increasingly immersed into our lives, it is clear they will continue to play a major role in the education, learning, entertainment and socialisation of our children's lives. This can be a scary prospect for a parent today as we are saturated with news about predators, pornography, cyber-bullying and sexting. These are real concerns, as is the safety of our children on these devices.

Devices are not going anywhere and so we need to be smarter when it comes to helping our kids navigate this world. For me, that means moving away from a fear based approach, toward one that helps our kids get the skills, behaviours and thinking to become not only safe, but happy and resilient users of digital technologies.

Our kids are good at keeping their passwords safe, not sharing private information, and thinking about talking to strangers online, which are all important lessons we need to continue to teach. Being immersed in this digital world requires skills and behaviours well beyond safety measures. It needs to be an ongoing lesson in critical thinking, resilience, self-esteem, empathy and the promotion of good habits that children can carry with them throughout life.

Digital Resilience

The online world opens us up to comments, judgements and even abuse from people known and unknown, all coming from different backgrounds and situations, all with different beliefs, and all with a little extra keyboard courage or anonymity. Whilst we would like to be promoting kindness and respect online, this is not always the reality. We need our kids to be able to recognise and move on from the people whose opinions do not matter. The greater audience and the permanence of the online world also means the effects of mistakes are magnified. Kids need to be able to withstand the very permanent and public nature of this world. There may always be a party they are not invited to, or a sleepover they were excluded from, so how will they deal with the constant flow of images appearing in their social media feeds?

Self-esteem away from the screens

There will always be comparison online. With access to so much and so many, there will always be someone prettier, smarter, and skinnier, with more friends, more likes or more followers. We need to be constantly working on the self-esteem of our kids, both online and off. Conversations about our self-worth, where that comes from, whose opinion matters, what success and happiness really looks like. These all need to form part of the equation, not just how many likes you get on your latest selfie.

Digital skills

Our kids need skills to know how to handle different situations that arise online. Do they know how to abort a conversation that is going badly? How do they speak up in a group chat when someone is being excluded or spoken about in a nasty way? How do they deal with unwanted attention online? Do they have the words to respond to a nasty comment? Should they respond? As so much of their social life and connection to others will be based around online conversations, these are just some of the skills our kids need to have in order to keep those interactions positive.

Good habits

The earlier we start with good habits, the greater chance we have of them becoming behaviours they adopt throughout adolescents and beyond. So start out with your own rules to ensure these habits are formed. Maybe it is no devices an hour before bed, no devices in the bedroom, no devices at the dinner table, asking permission before sharing pictures of others. Making sure there is plenty of time for friends, extra curricula activities, outside play, chores, homework and good sleep. These all help us be in charge of our time management and the control we have over our devices, so they don't end up controlling us.

DEVELOPING HOME-SCHOOL PARTNERSHIPS Contd..

Critical thinking

There is so much content online, so our kids need to be good at determining that which is real, fake, relevant, helpful and worthwhile. This can be a difficult task (even for adults), but a crucial skill. Critical thinking must be an ongoing process every time they watch a video, look at a photo, read an article or connect with someone. Why was this written or produced? Is there a language bias? Are they trying to sell me something? Is there research to back up their claims? Would this video have a warning if it were on TV? Is this worth my time? These are just some of the critical thinking questions kids need to be asking of themselves every time they consume content online.

So whilst keeping our kids safe and giving them the skills to do this is of utmost importance, there is so much more to cyber safety than avoiding predators. The emotional and social well-being of our kids and the ability for them to be in the best position possible to learn, grow and thrive are imperative, and will help them become resilient and happy both online and off.
